Hague, April 9.

THERE have of late been great Heats in the Assemblies of the Estates of some of the Provinces, in their Debates about the Publick Affairs. Particularly in the Assembly of the Quarter of Nimuegen in Gelderland, in which Assembly one or more of the Members having reflected very hard upon M. Welderen, Deputy of the said Province of Gelderland to the States General, that Gentleman return'd a sharp Answer, which drawing on more hot Words, they fell at last on both sides to very homely Invectives against each other. Upon this the enraged Magistrates of the City of Nimuegen caus'd a Placard to be publish'd in such course Terms, that perhaps there never was the fellow of it. 'Tis as follows,

WHEREAS it happen'd yesterday in the Assembly of the Quarter or District of this City of Nimuegen, that first of all upon a Debate touching the Execution of a late Act of Council of State, and afterwards upon a Question rais'd between the Burgomaster Pels (who sat in the Presidial Chair in the said Assembly, by vertue of his being one of the Ruling Burgomasters of this City,) and the Heer Bailif van Welderen, notwithstanding the said Burgomaster answer'd with great moderation several provoking Expressions utter'd by the Bailif, the latter upon the former's Hesitation to reply to a Question started by him the said Bailif in an importunate and insolent manner, proceeded in his abusive way of speaking so far as not to be asham'd to break out into these Words: Then I must tell you, that you are a pack of Rogues.

And forasmuch as by the Rules of Common Society and Conversation such unseemly Expressions are deem'd extremely injurious and unsufferable when spoken to private Gentlemen, and are beyond all Contradiction yet more offensive and disrespectful being utter'd to such an Illustrious Assembly as is that of the Noble States of the Quarter or District of Nimuegen, and consequently is an insufferable Affront upon the Magistrates of this City who have the Honour to fill the Presidial Chair in the aforesaid honourable Assembly by their pro Tempore Ruling Burgomaster: And forasmuch also as the said Heer van Welderen has absconded himself, knowing great diligence was us'd to sieze and arrest him; and seeing the Burgomasters and Council of Nimuegen cannot pass by these atrocious injuries without Resentment, but hold themselves oblig'd in Honour to proceed against the foremention'd Bailif van Welderen, they do by these Presents declare him to be the greatest Rogue in the World, a graceless Calumniator, and a Defamer of honest Mens good Name and Reputation, on Account of the Injuries and Affronts put upon them in general and particular, till such time as the said Bailif van Weldern shall give a due and sufficient Satisfaction to the said Honourable Magistrates, suitable to the Injuries he has done them. And they declare further, That they will not own him for a Member of the Quarter or District of Nimuegen, till he has made full Reparation for the Disrespect and Offence given by him to the Assembly of the Council and Magistrates of this City in such an extravagant manner. Done, February 24.

Publish'd March 1. 1706. by the Protonot. Theod. van Lomen.

Some common Friends of the said Magistrates and of M. Welderen, (who is a Man of Probity and Worth,) interpos'd their good Offices to make up this matter; and the Terms of Accommodation being agreed, M. Welderen had a private Meeting with the said Magistrates, and declar'd the Words they had taken Offence at were spoken in an Excess of Passion, and that he was sorry for them; and the Magistrates declar'd they had been too warm and hasty on their Part, were sorry for it, and would revoke their Placard: Accordingly they have done it, as follows.

Placard.

WHereby is revoked and annulled the Placard publish'd the 1st of March 1706 against the Heer John van Welderen.

Whereas every thing relating to what happened the 23d of February past, is fully determined by due Satisfaction made, and the Disputes which arose from thence are composed by the Interposition of Friends, to the Content of both Parties; the Burgho Masters and Council of the City of Nimuegen have have thought fit to retract their Resolution and Placard issued the 1st of March, And do hereby annul the said Resolution and Placard, which together with all the Copies thereof that have been dispersed, are declared null void and of no Effect.
